MVC HUMANICS AND MARSHALL PARKS & RECREATION TO HOST HAUNTED HOUSE

Marshall, Mo. (October 21, 2008)—It's the scary time of year again, and with Halloween coming soon there's nothing better than a haunted house to get in the mood.

Halloween is one of America's most celebrated holidays and haunted houses have become a well attended tradition. The Marshall Parks & Recreation department and the Missouri Valley College American Humanics program are putting on what is sure to be a chilling haunted house experience.

The haunted house will be open from 7 to 10 p.m. nightly Monday, Oct. 27 through Thursday, Oct. 30 at the Marshall Municipal Pool. There is also a haunted maze inside the pool. Admission is $5 per person.

Both groups presenting this project are dedicated to serving the community. The Parks & Recreation department provides many activities for the community with the people in mind. American Humanics is a service group at MVC that continually provides the campus as well as community with recreational activities. Their leader Tammy Harrelson has given them the motto, "Excellence isn't easy, but around here it's tradition." Harrelson believes the group's motto is an example of their desire to serve and make a difference in the community.
