MVC THEATRE KICKS OFF 2012-13 SEASON
The Missouri Valley College theatre department has announced its first production of the 2012-2013 season. The production, Blood, is a new play written by E.M. Lewis. The action of the play takes place in Iraq in 2004 where a British Embassy worker, an American engineer, a network journalist and a freelance photographer have been taken hostage. Each person must decide what he or she will do to survive as death draws close.

Performances will be October 3-6 at 7:30 p.m. nightly in the Morris Experimental Theatre in MacDonald Hall on the MVC campus. There is limited seating and doors will open at 7 p.m. Tickets are $5 for the general public and free for MVC faculty, staff and students with an MVC ID. In order to be eligible for continuing accreditation, MVC ATEP had to provide documentation demonstrating all of the CAATE standards were met through submission of a self-study followed by an on-campus visit by CAATE representatives. The MVC ATEP is one of three academic programs at MVC that receives continuing accreditation by an outside entity and one of 367 CAATE accredited ATEPs in the United States.
