MVC Athletic Training Student Selected for National Athletic Training Student Leadership Workshop

Marshall, Mo. (March 30, 2010)—Jennifer Asberry, a junior Athletic Training Student from Meta, Mo, was selected to attend the 5th Annual Athletic Training Student Leadership Workshop in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. May 19-22.

The workshop is hosted by The Collegiate Sports Medicine (CSM) Foundation and sponsored by Cramer Products, Inc. Ms. Asberry is one of two students selected to represent NATA District 5 (MO, OK, KS, IA, SD, and ND).

The Athletic Training Student Leadership Workshop focuses on developing leadership qualities, the future of the athletic training profession, communication skills, graduate school and employment opportunities, research, and organizational skills for health care professionals. The faculty and presenters of this workshop consist of athletic training educators, researchers, leaders, and entrepreneurs throughout the country.

“I am excited about this opportunity,” Asberry said. “It is going to be fun to meet athletic trainers I have only heard about and other future athletic training leaders, while exchanging and learning different ideas. I am going to be able to take what I learn and bring it back to Missouri Valley College and my district.”

MVC Athletic Training Education Program Director Dr. Karla Bruntzel said Asberry will be a great representative of MVC and District 5.

“Jennifer was the perfect selection for this opportunity,” Bruntzel said. “I am constantly amazed with her ability to be involved with so many campus and national organizations and succeed at everything.”

Ms. Asberry also serves as the vice president of the MVC Athletic Training Student Organization, is a member of the Missouri Athletic Trainers’ Association Student Leadership Council, and is the NATA District 5 representative on the National Athletic Training Students' Committee. She also competes on the Missouri Valley College Track and Field Team.
