

English-Literary Concentration

Sample Year by Year

Not all courses offered every semester

- Year One
- ◆ PH 105
 - ◆ EN 130
 - ◆ HS 105
 - ◆ EN 160
 - ◆ PE 221
 - ◆ MA 150
 - ◆ GS 150
 - ◆ SC 100
 - ◆ Elective
 - ◆ NP 100

-
- Year Two
- ◆ TH 105
 - ◆ EN 200
 - ◆ HU 125
 - ◆ EN 371
 - ◆ MC 150
 - ◆ EN 220
 - ◆ EN 372
 - ◆ RE 150
 - ◆ MU 101

-
- Year Three
- ◆ EN 383
 - ◆ EN 326
 - ◆ 3 Upper Level Electives
 - ◆ EN 345
 - ◆ EN 350
 - ◆ EN 360
 - ◆ EN 225
 - ◆ EN 230

-
- Year Four
- ◆ EN 485
 - ◆ EN 425
 - ◆ EN 327
 - ◆ 3 Electives
 - ◆ 4 Upper Level Electives

English is a broad academic field that prepares you for a career in nearly any industry. We offer two concentrations within our program. Students with a passion for reading and analysis may pursue a concentration in literary studies, while those with creative aspirations may pick the writing studies concentration. If you're interested in teaching English at the secondary level (grades 9-12) you're required to complete coursework in both English and teacher education.

Career Possibilities

- Lobbyist
- Librarian
- Grant Writer/Coordinator
- Marketing
- Public Relations
- Publisher
- Teacher/Professor

Graduate Program Possibilities

- English Studies
- Law School
- Public Administration
- Education

Why a degree in English from Missouri Valley?

As you study writing and literature at MVC, you hone skills in written and verbal communication, research and critical thinking. Faculty in our program have a wide range of professional experiences and interests, many with doctoral degrees in literature related fields. Additionally, many of your professors are published authors. We strive to introduce you to a variety of learning experiences through guest lectures, work outside of the classroom, and hands-on learning experiences, like the opportunity to publish your work before you graduate.